IT CURES! IT CURES!

Cause of the Widespread Demand for Paine's Celery Compound.

The [illegible] demand for Paine's celery compound among the people of this state [illegible] but all sections of the [illegible]

Not only in this vicinity [illegible] but only in very eastern state but everywhere in the United States.

[illegible] the wonderful [illegible] makes people well [illegible] most [illegible] of modern medical science.

Nobody disputes it.

[illegible] was first prescribed by the most eminent of American physicians, Prof. Edward E. Phelps [illegible]

The daily press of the large cities has [illegible] accounts [illegible] of health restored by Paine's celery compound.

Some of the most famous men and women in the country have very recently [illegible] testimonials. They or their physicians have frankly told how, when all else had failed, Paine's celery compound made them well.

There are many in this city whom it has cured of serious illness.

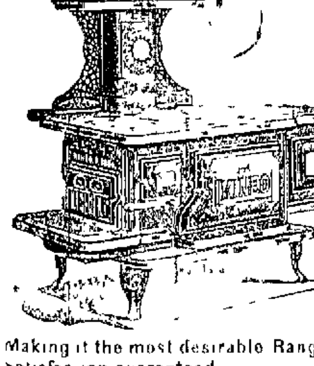

Paine's celery compound is the one specific for those nervous disorders, indigestion, neuralgia and rheumatism, for heart trouble, lassitude, sleeplessness, from which men and women in this climate so generally suffer.

It cures not only speedily but permanently. It supplies the nerves with food; it makes new blood, it removes the cause of disease. Mrs. Geo. A. Wilson, of Waterville Me., whose portrait is given above, is one of the many whom Paine's celery compound has cured. Her husband writes:

"My wife could not get any rest, and her head troubled her all the time. She was very lame at times, and when she was lying in bed she was so nervous that she could not keep her limbs quiet. Her system was completely run down. We tried doctors and almost every kind of medicine but she could get no relief until she began taking Paine's celery compound. After she had taken three bottles of the compound she began to grow stronger and her nervousness left her, and she says that she would not be without it for all the world. The enclosed photograph was taken after she had used three bottles of the compound."

Testimonials might be published by hundreds. They all go to show that for any of these complaints that arise from an impaired nervous system or impure blood, Paine's celery compound should invariably be taken—for it makes people well.

REFORM IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Leaders Want an Investigation of City's Affairs.

Say They Have Evidence to Convict Many Officials.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17. Leaders of the reform movement in this city stated yesterday that they had already received enough evidence to convict 15 city officials of dishonorable acts in office. They declare that if the legislature is dilatory in appointing a committee to investigate local corruption they will take the matter in hand themselves and commence prosecutions at once.

FIRE RECORD.

A Total Loss of $18,000.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 17. An American Express man threw a match among some papers in the office fireplace this morning, and as a result the First National Bank building was badly damaged by fire. Loss on building $10,000, insured. Other losses will make the total $18,000.

THIEF CAPTURED

After Getting a Long Way from Home.

NASHUA, N. H., Jan. 17. James Wood, who was arrested in a lumber camp at Antigo, Wis., was employed in a stable in this city, and the money he is alleged to have stolen belonged to Mrs. Murray, who resides on Main street, and at whose house Wood took his meals. The money was taken from between some bedding, where it was placed by Mrs. Murray for safe keeping, and it was not missed for a number of days after Wood's departure. Wood claimed he was going to Pepperill. Aside from the $100 he is alleged to have taken three notes. The police have been looking for him since November 8, when he left town. Wood is a genteel appearing young man and is unmarried. City Marshal Eaton is expected to arrive here with him to-morrow.

SENATORIAL CONTEST.

For Relief

seek what has been shown will bring relief. We do not ask you to take our word for what has been done, and can be done, for relief by DANA'S Sarsaparilla, but that of sufferers glad to help others by telling them of their misfortunes. MR. RALPH M. CARTER of CENTRE MONTVILLE, ME., was tormented day and night with an intense itching, and his body from head to foot was covered with eruptions. This was caused by a bad attack of Eczema.

Dana's SARSAPARILLA

The Kind That Cures

wrought a radical CURE, cleansing his blood of its impurities, and made him well. Blood is life, and impurity of the blood is the origin of almost all diseases. Keep your blood pure; throw out the impurities as soon as they manifest themselves, and you will keep well. DANA'S Sarsaparilla will do this.

OF ONE OPINION.

Perier's Resignation Severely Denounced by all Parties.

Proceedings of National Assembly at Versailles.

M. Felix Faure Elected President on Second Ballot.

LONDON, Jan. 17. The Standard to-day denounces Casimir-Perier for his "Abject moral cowardice." Its leader on the French crisis closed with the words: "Happy Carnot to have fallen under the assassin's dagger, as compared with his successor's inglorious exit."

A Paris correspondent of the Daily News writes: There is but one opinion in all parties and that is: The resignation was a grievous fault, the outcome of a fit of petulant irritation. As M. Brisson read the President's message to the chamber its tone was felt to be peevish and dogmatic. The ministry must release Richard and Garnaud and allow Jarras and Mirman and Reunet to attend the assembly to-day, or the election will be invalid.

In discussing the various causes of Casimir-Perier's resignation, the News correspondence writes:

Madame Casimir-Perier winced under the restrictions which life at the Elysee imposed. She could not be intimate with the reactionists and she found she must greatly extend her visitors list. All French ladies of rank are exclusive and like to keep a small select circle. Madame who also is a careful administrator of the conjugal fortune, found the Elysee to be the glass house where money must be squandered.

The squandering did not bring amusement, but only tedious cares and worry. Her son was reduced to exercise in the riding school and her daughter had to confine her walks to the palace garden, the parents fearing to allow them in the bois as formerly. The family's personal convenience was uppermost in the mind of the wife and mother.

M. Casimir-Perier wanted the situation of King with no irksome duties.

The Daily Graphic correspondent says Waldeck-Rousseau's consenting to stand has had an inspiring effect generally. Nobody is better qualified than he to undo the mischief caused by Casimir-Perier's resignation. It is now virtually certain that Challamel-Lacour will refuse to stand.

The troops have been confined to the barracks.

After reviewing at length Casimir-Perier's recent career in politics the Times correspondent in Paris says. However much his resignation may be deplored he cannot be fairly blamed for the step he has taken. As for his successor, there is little indication which one of the existing candidates can muster the necessary 450 votes. It is to be hoped that there will be an agreement on some neutral man. Otherwise after many fruitless ballots there might be fear lest the Congress declare itself permanent and the convention an object of terror for 25 years, be suddenly constituted. From such a misfortune France may hope to be preserved.

The Times' correspondent in Vienna says that the press and politicians there condemn Casimir-Perier with remarkable unanimity.

Was Part of a Conspiracy.

BERLIN, Jan. 17. The Post says: The assaults of the revolutionary parties upon the ministers were part of a conspiracy to overthrow Casimir-Perier.

The Boersen-Courier. Casimir-Perier's resignation must influence the economic situation powerfully, for it shows the absolute instability of political conditions in France.

The Nachrichten says: The political confusion in France has reached the danger point. History shows no similar situations. All things are tending to precipitate the death struggle of the Bourgeois republic. It will be only good luck if no dictator appear to give it the fatal blow.

The Lokal Anzeiger says: Casimir-Perier has proved himself devoid of energy, weak and cowardly. The Socialists are right in calling him a deserter.

The Vossische Zeitung says: Casimir-Perier had no right to complain of the Socialist attacks. The occupant of the first place in the state ought not to shrink before criticism. His assailants will find that they cannot destroy parliamentarism.

The Tageblatt says: His fall is a great loss. It concerns Germany and all other friends of peace, as his successor will possibly seek to divert the attention of the people to foreign questions. It behooves Germany to keep her powder dry.

Appointment of Ambassadors Postponed.

ROME, Jan. 17. The council of Ministers has decided not to consider the appointment of ambassadors to France, England and Russia until after the solution of the present French crisis.

The Vatican is worried by the sudden changes in French affairs.

The Osservatore Romano says it is deplorable to see French Socialists and Radicals thus successful in their schemes, and asks at the end of a pessimistic article "Whither are we tending?"

The Diritto says: The only proper course is to re-elect Casimir-Perier.

The Opinione says: Casimir-Perier increased France's misfortune by trying to assure her well being.

The Fanfulla says: Casimir-Perier quits office because he finds it impossible to make a post of honor a post of battle.

The Tribuna says: The first chance he had of discharging a delicate mission he renounced the task.

Found that Defense Was Impossible.

LONDON, Jan. 17. The Daily News' correspondent in Vienna says that M. Loxa, the French ambassador, though astonished, defends Casimir-Perier, who, he says, always likes to be in the thick of battle, but found it to be against his whole nature to remain in a place where defense was impossible.

The Leading Candidates.

PARIS, Jan. 17. The majority of this morning's newspapers, in their editorial articles on the political situation agree in condemning President Casimir-Perier's message of resignation as an undignified document, containing expressions which were wholly uncalled for by the condition of things which are alleged to have caused it to be written. No arrangements have been made by the ministry to enable deputies Carnaud, Mirman and Gerault-Richard to attend the sittings of the National Assembly at Versailles and it cannot be learned that any are contemplated.

The newspapers agree that M. Brisson and M. Waldeck-Rousseau are the leading candidates. The latter has lost popularity owing to the fact that as counsel, he has defended a number of unsuccessful concerns, notably the Panama Canal Co. It is regarded as quite possible that Dupuy, Faure and Loubet will come forward on the second- or third ballot.

The Figaro continues to advocate the candidacy of Waldeck-Rousseau, while the Journal Des Debats prefers Faure for President and Waldeck-Rousseau for Premier.

The Socialists have made a most violent attack upon the candidacy of Waldeck-Rousseau and have caused placards denouncing him to be posted in various parts of the city.

The President Completely Broken Down.

LONDON, Jan. 17. The Paris correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette says: When the report of the scene in the Chamber of Deputies on the occasion of the reading of the President's message of his resignation reached the palace of the Elysee last evening, Casimir-Perier broke down completely and cried bitterly for some time. His physician says he will need several months of absolute rest before he will be the same man he was when he was elected President last June.

A force of five hundred detectives has gone to Versailles and the strength of the police has been greatly increased, it being feared that the Anarchists will seize the opportunity afforded by the crisis to indulge in bomb throwing and other outrages peculiar to the sect.

There was a great deal of canvassing in the Chamber of Deputies, yesterday, on behalf of Premier Dupuy, but wagers of 2 to 1 were freely laid against him in the clubs last night, the belief being that M. Dupuy had wilfully forced the crisis by his resignation. The Royalists whose activity is fomented by the Duc D'Haussonville received seven telegrams from the Duc D'Orleans during the night in regard to the latter's manifesto, which will be issued to-day. Prince Victor Napoleon is also reported to be preparing a manifesto which it is understood will be given out to-day.

Orders have been given out at the frontiers to prevent the importation of these documents into France. Workmen were engaged all night in fitting up the hall in which the National Assembly will sit at Versailles, with fur ..re and hangings from the Garde Meuble.

The provinces seem to be indifferent to the situation, but Paris is greatly excited. The latest betting in the clubs is five to one against Dupuy, 11 to 2 against Waldeck-Rousseau, 100 to 4 against Loubet, and 100 to 3 against Challemel-Lacour.

National Assembly Called to Order

VERSAILLES, Jan. 17. The National Assembly was called to order at one o'clock. The total vote on the first ballot was 794. The result has not yet been announced. Although the result of the first ballot is not yet officially announced, it is stated that approximately M. Brisson received 344, M. Faure 216, and Waldeck Rousseau 185.

Lots were drawn for 36 scrutators to supervise the balloting. Then came the drawing of lots to see what letter the voting should begin with. Precisely as was the case last June, the letter "L" was drawn and M. Labarthe, moderate Republican, was enabled for the second time to begin the balloting for a President, he having begun the voting when M. Casimir-Perier was elected last June. After this the interest was focussed in the lobbies where the members of the right were holding a caucus.

The result of the caucus was a decision to support M. Waldeck-Rousseau. The latter held a hurried conference with M. Paul Deschanel, who expressed his opinion that the first ballot would be without result and that as to the outcome of the second ballot a great deal would depend upon whether M. Faure would withdraw in favor of Waldeck-Rousseau. When the name of M. Mirman, Socialist, was called there was no response, the deputy being a soldier garrisoned at Vincennes and the Colonel of his regiment having refused to grant him a furlough in order that he might be present in the assembly. The Socialists raised a tremendous uproar because M. Mirman's vote was not recorded.

Another cause of Socialist fury is the refusal of the government to temporarily release Gerault-Richard, who is in prison for insulting President Casimir-Perier, and was elected a deputy while in prison. Deputy Carnaud, who was arrested in Roanne on Tuesday, was released to-day and voted in the assembly, as did also Rosounat and Jeurax, who were recently expelled from the Chamber.

When M. Toussaint, Socialist, deposited his vote in the urn he cried "Vive Social Revolution," and when the name of M. Avez, Social Revolutionist, was called he refused to vote but shouted from his seat "Abstention means dissolution; down with the Presidency."

The conservative Senator Buffet after voting for Waldeck-Rousseau expressed the opinion that the votes would be scattered on the first ballot for the reason that the election of Waldeck-Rousseau represented dissolution, which the deputies dread, whereas the election of Brisson would open the sluice gates to socialism.

First Ballot.

VERSAILLES, Jan. 17. The result of the first ballot as officially announced is as follows: Brisson, 338; Faure, 244; Waldeck-Rousseau, 184, total number of votes cast, 794; necessary to a choice, 398. M. Waldeck-Rousseau has announced that he withdraws from the contest in favor of Faure.

Second Ballot.

There were 801 votes cast in the second ballot. M. Felix Faure was elected on the second ballot, receiving 430 votes to 361 cast for M. Henri Brisson.

STATEMENT OF CONDITION

Of the Suspended Union Bank of St. Johns, Newfoundland.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Jan. 17. A full statement of the condition of the suspended Union Bank was presented to the shareholders yesterday. Liabilities, $3,464,906, assets, $3,174,778, leaving a deficit of $290,128.

This will necessitate a call on two-thirds of the reserve liabilities fund of the shareholders, but as many of these will be unable to respond the result of the call will probably be insufficient to meet the deficit and the bank must necessarily become insolvent. It is not expected that more than ninety cents on the dollar will be realized for all creditors.

The meeting of shareholders yesterday was very stormy and much condemnation of the management of the directors was expressed. There is a growing feeling to prosecute them. The bank loses $1,000,000 through the firms of four of the directors. The bank's notes are only exchanging for sixty cents on the dollar.

A GREAT BATTLE

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore bodily health for many years.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, sickness, indigestion and biliousness. 25c.

When David went forth to combat with the giant Goliath he was little aware that in a future day and generation, his exploit would furnish an illustration of the merits of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. But giant disorders will often succumb to these little 'Pellets' which can and do remove the source of disease. Constipation, an inactive liver and impaired digestion will grow into serious maladies if not conquered in their earlier stages. The "Pellets" will cure disordered liver, sick headache, dyspepsia, piles, constipation and its accompanying ills.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Many Persons Killed in Spain by Avalanches.

Latest Accounts of the Battle at Kai Paing.

LONDON, Jan. 17. The Times correspondent in Tien Tsin says: Authentic details of the battle of Kai Paing are scanty. It appears the Japanese out generalled Liu. Among the 2,000 killed were many high officers. Generals Shui and Ma were near the scene with a force but they held aloof.

Negotiations Begun

MADRID, Jan. 17. Negotiations to establish a commercial modus vivendi between Spain and the United States have begun.

Many Were Killed

MADRID, Jan 17. Avalanches have broken over several villages in Asterias and many persons are said to have been killed.

Total Japanese Loss Reported

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 17. Among the budget of war news brought by the steamer Empress of Japan are the following: The total losses of life in the Japanese army up to Dec. 6, is 780. Of these 130 men died of diseases, so only 150 were actually killed in battle.

A despatch to the Japan Mail from Shanghai says that although the Chinese ships were not in condition to fight the Japanese, the government at Pekin was ignorant of that fact. It imagines that the Pei-Yang squadron would win a decisive victory if it could only find the enemy and it has ordered the ships to go out in search of the Japanese.

The latest accounts of the battle at Kang Wasa, on Dec. 19, say that Gen. Ozeko's forces numbered 1,500 men while the Chinese forces numbered 10,000. The ground was covered with snow and marching was made very difficult and the cold was intense. The Japanese were the attacking party and in spite of the great difference in numbers, succeeded in dislodging the enemy with a loss of 54 killed and 258 wounded.

BROOKLYN STRIKERS

Trouble on the De Kalb Avenue and Newtown Railroad Lines Settled

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Jan. 17. The State Board of Arbitration succeeded early this morning in settling the trouble between the employes of the DeKalb avenue and Newtown railroad lines. As a result the cars on these lines began running early this morning and are now making regular schedule time.

Will Go Back on the Same Terms

The Fifth avenue line of the Atlantic Avenue Company started out a mail car just before six without any violence being attempted by the strikers. There were forty-eight policemen in the neighborhood of the starting station, keeping the strikers from gathering too close to it. It was reported that this Company had engaged seventy five motormen in Philadelphia to run their cars to-day. At 8 there were six cars running on this line.

Shortly after 8 six of the imported men deserted the Company and joined the strikers. These men say that most of the union men had been discharged by the Philadelphia companies for incompetency. They also said that there would be other desertions from the company during the day.

The members of the local Assembly 730, presided over by John J. Herrigan, held a meeting in Flatbush this morning. About 500 persons were present. By a large vote the men decided that if President Lewis, of the Brooklyn City Railroad Co., offered them the same terms as those made by the De Kalb Avenue Line they would return to work at once.

HAVERHILL STRIKERS

More Union Employes Called Out

HAVERHILL, Mass., Jan. 17. This forenoon a party of strikers went to Winchell & Co.'s branch factory, at Ashland Park, two miles below the city, and called out the union employes, the number employed there being about 150. Only a portion came out. To-day has otherwise been very quiet here so far. The weather is very pleasant and many people are on the street.

PARIS GREEN IN THE WELL.

Attempt Made to Poison a Whole Family.

No Clue to Perpetrators of the Cowardly Act.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Jan. 17. An attempt was made to poison the whole family of Geo. Bixby, at Chester, Tuesday night, by putting Paris green in the well. The family became sick after drinking coffee at breakfast and an investigation showed fully a pound of poison had been used. The sides of the well were covered and a large quantity was in the bucket. Bixby has no enemies he knows of. The family were made very sick but none will die.

Telegraphic Notes

The State Treasurer's report of Boston was submitted Wednesday, and shows a larger amount of public debt payments than ever before [illegible] add to this $1,506,181.77 and $1,21[illegible] 356.50 Troy & Greenfield [illegible] State prison loans, and the total for [illegible] 1, 1891, to Jan. 1, 1895 is $12,467,681.15. No other sterling loans are payable until 1900, when the Boston Hartford & Erie R. R. loan of 11,000 pounds will be paid. The annual saving of interest by meeting loans, $120,000, is [illegible] the interest on the new loans of $131,100. The funded debt Dec. 31, 1894 was $11,811,115.16, sinking fund $[illegible] 202.19, net debt, $12,[illegible] funded debt, Dec. 31, 1893 $12,0[illegible] not including $8,000 county [illegible] loan and $200 Davis Hospital [illegible] due but not paid. Associate Justice Smith, of the Supreme Court of Concord, N. H., Wednesday filed a report in the matter of the Almy murder reward. The judge reports in favor of the State's award of $2,500, being divided evenly between Prof. Whicher, of the State Agricultural College, and Deputy Sheriff Brown of Hanover. Of how [illegible] be apportioned the court suggests that Prof. Whicher be paid $1,000, Sheriff Brown $1,000 and Mrs. Warden, mother of the murdered girl, $500. Prof. Whicher and Sheriff Brown watched and discovered Almy in the cornfield. Council for twenty other claimants for the reward says the matter is appealed to the full bench on questions of law.

The stable of Harry W. Small, at Worcester, Mass., was broken into Tuesday night, and the champion high stepper of America, Sky High, was stolen. The horse was driven desperately and evidently escaped from the thieves, for about midnight he wandered into the stable yard of Logee's Hotel North Grafton utterly exhausted and bleeding from several wounds. The sleigh was scattered along the road. Sky High has taken several prizes at the annual New York horse shows. He [illegible] prize tandem and light coach horse.

The Concord, N. H. House and Senate in joint convention Wednesday afternoon elected State officers: Secretary of State Ezra S. Stearns, Lindgey; State Treasurer, Solon A. Carter, Concord; State printer, Edward N. Pearson of Concord.

The Duke of Orleans, chief of the French pretenders, left London with his suite, Wednesday, for Dover, where he will hold himself ready to start for France in case political developments favor his cause.

The plan of the reorganization committee of the Union Pacific if the government agrees to the proposed funding of the government debt at 2 per cent. for fifty years, is to assess the stockholders 10 per cent. for which second mortgage bonds will be given at par. A syndicate has been formed which will take the stock and pay the assessment of all stockholders who do not care to become a party to the plan. The Central Pacific authorities will not consent to any plan which would involve the assessment of stock, although they are in favor of an extension of the government debt for 50 years at 2 per cent.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Whig and Courier.

BY BOUTELLE BROTHERS.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle Brothers, and communications intended for publication should be addressed "Editor of Whig and Courier."

FRIDAY, JANUARY 18, 1895

The Boston Herald still has faith in the financial principles of President Cleveland. By the way what are the financial principles of the President?

The Lowell Courier denies the statement that four of the cotton mills in that city are to be moved South. It says: Not a Lowell spindle or loom is to be taken away from the city, as far as any existing or mooted proposition is concerned.

Senator Engel has introduced a bill to amend the law relating to imprisonment for debt, the effect of which is to prevent a debtor being cited to appear before a disclosure commissioner at a distance when there are commissioners at or near his home, except in cases where the creditor lives at a different place from the debtor, when the latter may be cited to appear before a commissioner located nearest the place of the creditor's residence. This is to do away with the practice of long distance citation when it is unnecessary, and the practice is one that should be abolished.

There is no occasion for our contemporary to make any mistake as regards the meaning of the Whig's paragraph, it being sufficiently explicit to be understood. If the Commercial represents the public sentiment of this city as [illegible] of suggestions to our legislative delegation would indicate a different set of gentlemen would have gone to Augusta this winter. This fact, together with the positive assurance that it will oppose the return of any of them [illegible] they will [illegible] perform their duties, led us to suggest that the delegation was not likely to be disturbed by its warnings or to pay any attention to the absurd contention that the people of Bangor desire to vote on the [illegible] involved in the proposed increase in the salary of the Judge and Recorder of the Municipal Court.

The [illegible] Goddess of Liberty who perches on the top of the capitol dome [illegible] and yet [illegible] performs a queer track every day at just [illegible]. There are a number of meteorological instruments on the roof above the Senate chamber which record the rainfall, the direction of the wind, the [illegible] of the atmosphere and a number of other things in which everybody is supposed to take a lively interest, and down in the marble room of the Senate are the dials which mark the record for the benefit of the statesmen. The pen that indicates that the sun is shining [illegible] clicks away [illegible] until [illegible] the minute mentioned, when it suddenly stops because the sun has got behind the statue on the dome and caused a shadow to fall across the [illegible] instruments. The record shows for eight minutes the length of time that it takes the earth to [illegible] space with the [illegible] back and get out of the way of [illegible], who at the end of that period resumes her business of shining on the dial. Then the automatic pen on the register [illegible] begins its ticking again.

Surrender of the Japanese Students.

[illegible] indignation has been aroused in Congress against Secretary Gresham as a result of a submission to the Senate, at its request, of the correspondence relating to the surrender by the United States Consul at Shanghai to the Chinese of two Japanese students. Some idea may be gathered of the feeling by an expression of opinion by Senator Aldrich, who is usually very calm in talking on public affairs. "The conduct of the foreign affairs of this government," said Mr. Aldrich, "is almost [illegible] every fresh illustration of it makes it still more infamous." When Mr. Aldrich said this without any special reference to the case of these two Japanese students, the epithet applies very aptly to this matter. In submitting the documents, Secretary Gresham has written a long letter in which he tries to excuse his scandalous course in this matter, and in which he plainly seeks to misrepresent the facts. Mr. Gresham says that the prisoners were not boys, but men and spies in the military service of Japan; there is small, if any, room for doubt.

Consul General Jernigan, at Shanghai, who gave the boys protection and who vainly tried to save their lives by seeking to have Mr. Gresham rescind his order of surrender, says in his report that the two students were mere school boys, and that they had been students in Shanghai wearing Chinese garments for some years, and that he personally examined all the papers found on the boys, and that they were nothing more than geographical drawings such as might be found on any school boy, and were of no value for war purposes. He says that the Chinese officials had offered rewards for the capture of Japanese spies and had made the terms of the reward so liberal and infamous that it made it to the advantage of the Chinese to arrest any citizen of Japan, and that once arrested their lives were sure to be taken. Consul General Jernigan said further that to surrender these boys without proper conditions would be to consign them to certain death.

Mr. Denby, Jr., who was in charge of the Legation at Pekin at the time, also put in a plea for the boys and declared that "to give up the boys unconditional[ly] will result in their death." What sort of a man the United States has at the head of the State Department may be judged from the fact that Mr. Gresham rebuked and fairly insulted Mr. Denby, Jr., and Consul General Jernigan because of the interest they took in these two boys, and peremptorily ordered them to turn over the boys to the Chinese authorities.

Mr. Gresham asserts that "the Chinese Government denies that the men were put to death after being tortured, and the Department is not advised that they were tortured." But Mr. Julian Ralph, himself a Democrat and a man of the highest standing, investigated the matter at Shanghai for Harper's Weekly, which is a Democratic newspaper, and the entire country knows the result. The boys were "beheaded," as Secretary Gresham says, and they were tortured cruelly and barbarously, as Mr. Ralph has described. As in the case of Minister Willis at Hawaii, who was practically instructed by Mr. Gresham to make a report contradicting Admiral Walker, so in the case of these two students Mr. Gresham practically instructed Consul General Jernigan and Mr. Denby to make such reports as would justify the Secretary's action in turning over the students to the Chinese to be beheaded. But when the reports come to be read it will be seen that they do not justify the Secretary's letter and that the blood of these two innocent boys is on the head of Mr. Gresham.

Beaten in their Strongholds.

The New York Sun viewing the situation from a Democratic standpoint finds the political situation anything but encouraging. It says:

In the present House of Representatives the Republicans have 13 members from cities of the United States with a quarter of a million or more of population. Five of these 13 Representatives hail from Philadelphia, 2 from Cincinnati, and 1 each from New York, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, Cleveland and Buffalo. From the largest cities of the country the Democrats have 26 Representatives, just twice as many as the Republicans.

In the next Congress there will be six Republican Representatives from Chicago, five from Philadelphia, five from Brooklyn, four (more's the pity, though there is one vacancy) from New York, two each from St. Louis, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Buffalo, and one each from Boston and San Francisco, leaving Baltimore the only large city in the United States without a Republican Representative. The representation of Republicans from the large cities is increased from thirteen to thirty, an abnormal increase when it is considered that the district divisions are the same as they were at the election of 1893.

The increased representation of Republicans is greater in the cities than in the country districts, and the significance of the change is to be found in the fact that the Republican party has been making great headway in the strongholds of the Democratic party. Not [illegible] in the cities of the first class only [illegible] the Republicans will be represented [illegible] the next House. Denver, New Haven, Indianapolis, Louisville, Detroit, St. Paul, Omaha, Newark, Columbus, Pittsburg and Milwaukee will have Republican Congressmen.

Alliances with rural Populists are not conducive to the growth and strength of Democracy. The big cities of the United States are the centers of thought and influence, and the loss of them by the Democracy is not encouraging.

Solomon Robitshek, of Portland, and others submitted a petition for the repeal of the hawkers and peddlers law

Clinton M. Hamilton and 700 others, of Cumberland, submitted a petition to repeal the law protecting seals in Casco Bay

Senator Wiggin introduced the listing bill which died between the two branches of the last Legislature.

State Board of Agriculture

The State Board of Agriculture in session this forenoon, passed a resolution recommending an amendment to the law respecting State stipends to agricultural societies, so that such stipends may not be used for trotting and bicycle purses; an amendment requiring societies to enforce the prohibitory liquor law on their grounds; a resolve that Congress authorize the publication of the World's Columbian Fair dairy test; a resolve that a society which permits any form of gambling at its fair be disqualified from securing a State stipend; a resolve favoring the discontinuance of the distribution of seeds, but recommending that the directors of the experiment station be authorized to inspect seeds

Hearing Before Temperance Committee.

Much interest was taken this afternoon in the hearing before the Committee on Temperance Gen. Neal Dow appeared advocating the bill making the penalty for the first offence of liquor selling $500 and six months imprisonment, second offence, the same fine and a year's imprisonment Also to cause liquor cases to take precedence in courts and leave the judges no option as to penalties. Representatives Patten, of Bath, and Dolt, of Biddeford, spoke in opposition. Mr Patten said that if we wanted a greater sham than now we should pass such a law as proposed

This evening President Goodell, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, lectured under the auspices of the State Board of Agriculture to a large audience in Representatives Hall His subject was "Reminiscences of the East"

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Patrol of Behring Sea Useless

WASHINGTON, Jan 17 Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador, called at the treasury department this morning and discussed with Secretary Carlisle the preparation of the new seal regulations for the approaching season A serious matter in connection with the subject is the enormous cost to the United States of maintaining a patrol fleet in Behring Sea, which seems to be altogether out of proportion with the results obtained The discovery that seals can be killed with almost as much facility on the fishing banks eighty miles from Pribyloy Islands and outside the prohibited zone as on the islands themselves seems to render the preservation of seal life a hopeless task, and a joint patrol of Behring Sea is useless expense as far as the United States is concerned Officials familiar with the seal question concur in the opinion that the Paris award gives no adequate means for preventing the extermination of the fur seal by British Columbian poachers

An Important Reform

Senator Frye's shipping bill, which became a law to day, with the President's approval, works an important reform The bill abolishes registry, enrollment and license bonds for vessels

This relieves owners and masters of vessels from the obligation to obtain bonds, and sureties and reduces unnecessary clerical work of the customs houses

THE BROOKLYN STRIKE

More Trouble With Mobs Thursday

BROOKLYN, Jan 17 The first Putnam avenue car was started from the Halsey street barn at 12 40 P M A crowd of strikers and sympathizers hooted and jeered as the car started but the police quickly dispersed the crowd

At 2 30 P M, strikers formerly conductors on the Putnam avenue line, attacked a conductor of that line They dragged him from the front platform and struck him on the head with a billy, fracturing his skull They were arrested. The Putnam avenue line had considerable trouble all the afternoon. At 5 the crowd around the stables numbered fully 1 000 and the strikers were in an angry mood The police had great difficulty in keeping the tracks clear Clubs were used freely whenever the crowd became boisterous

A number of minor disturbances occurred during the day Manager Wicker, of the Brooklyn, Queens County and Suburban Company, which operates the Williamsburg lines, held a conference with four members of the strike committee this afternoon

CONGRESSIONAL.

Financial Bill Introduced by Senator Sherman.

Pension Appropriation Bill Passed by Senate.

Indian Appropriation Bill in the House.

Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 Mr. Pugh (Dem., Ala) introduced and read a bill authorizing the issuing of legal tender treasury notes to meet the deficiency in the revenue, to restore silver to coinage and for other purposes

Mr. Allen (Pop, Neb) asked Mr. Pugh whether his bill met the approval of the Treasury Department and the Administration.

Mr Pugh referred to the President's statement to the effect that if the two houses were not prepared to approve of the plan of the Secretary of the Treasury they should recommend some other plan. "Now," Mr Pugh continued, "the President has discharged his duty Let us discharge ours. If we we adjourn without doing so we confess our inability and will be characterized as idiots."

Mr Allison, (Rep, Iowa) called for the reading of the bill at the clerk's desk and after it was so read it was referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Sherman, (Rep, Ohio) introduced a bill to provide for the temporary deficiency in the revenue which was read in full and referred to the Finance Committee. It was as follows

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled, to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to provide for and maintain the redemption of United States notes according to the provisions of the act approved Jan. 14, 1875, entitled "an act to provide for the resumption of specie payments," and also to enable him to pay current deficiencies in the revenue, he is authorized from time to time, at his discretion, to issue, sell, dispose of at not less than par in coin either of the description of bonds authorized in said act, or coupon or registered bonds of the United States to the amount sufficient for the objects herein stated, not exceeding the current deficiency of revenue, bearing not to exceed 3 per cent. interest per annum, payable semi annually, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States in coin after five years from their date, with like qualities, privileges and exemptions provided in said act for the bonds therein authorized The Secretary of the Treasury shall use the proceeds thereof for the purposes herein provided for and none other

Section 2 In lieu of any of the bonds described in the first section of this act the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized, at his discretion, to issue certificates of indebtedness of the United States, payable to the bearer in coin after five years from the date at the pleasure of the United States, of denominations of 25, 50 and 100 dollars, with annual coupons for interest at the rate of three per cent per annum, and sell and dispose of the same for not less than an equal amount of lawful money of the United States at a designated depository of the United States and such postoffices as he selects. Such certificates shall have like qualities, privileges and exemptions described in said resumption act for bonds therein authorized The proceeds thereof shall be used for the purposes prescribed in the first section of this act and none other

Section 3 Upon any deposit already or hereafter made in the manner required by law, of any United States bonds or certificates bearing interest, any national banking association making the same, shall be entitled to receive from the Comptroller of the Treasury, circulating notes of different denominations in blank, registered and countersigned as provided by law, not exceeding in the whole amount the par value of the bonds deposited, provided that at no time shall the total amount of such notes issued to any such association exceed the amount at such time actually paid in of its capital stock.

The pension appropriation bill was taken up and speeches were made by Mr Gallinger (Rep, N H) and Mr Hawley (Rep, Conn) in criticism of the spirit and methods of the pension office and by Mr Palmer (Dem, Ills) in defense of the office. The bill appropriates $140,000,000 for pensions, $800,000 for examining surgeons, $72,000 for 18 agents, $150,000 for clerk hire. In the course of his speech Mr Hawley condemned pension ratings as low as $2 and $4 a month and offered an amendment that no pension should be less than $6 a month.

"Why not leave that" Mr Cockrell (Dem, Mo) asked, "to the discretion of the pension office officials "

"Simply because they have been in the habit of finding there was disability worth only $2 a month," Mr Hawley replied, "I do not want that on the record of the United States. If there be a disability at all it is worth more than $2 a month"

Mr. Palmer admitted that the government should be ashamed to have pensions allowed of $2 and $4 a month and said he would support the amendment if it matured so it would do not more harm to old soldiers than it would do them good.

Mr. Hawley modified the amendment to read "And it is further provided that $6 a month shall be the lowest degree of pensionable disability This shall not be held to suspend pensions heretofore granted for less than $6 a month, but all such shall be raised to the same rate."

Mr. Brice, (Dem., O) inquired as to the probable cost of the proposed increase

Mr. Gallinger, (Rep, N. H) said the increase could not be very large. He cared very little for the amount. It was right and just that the amendment be adopted

Mr Peffer (Pop., Kan.,) moved to make the lowest pension eight dollars a month instead of six, but as Mr Cockrell proposed to raise a point of order on it, Mr Peffer withdrew it

Mr Voorhees (Dem, Ind,) said "I heartily concur with the remarks of the Senator from New Hampshire (Mr Gallinger) I have no patience with these criticisms of the pension rolls I have no sympathy with the policy of a government which makes every soldier who has a pension a "suspect."

Mr. Hawley's amendment was agreed to as was an amendment by Mr. Gallingen (Rep., N H,) repealing the provision of the last pension appropriation bill which forbids the payment of pensions to non-residents, not citizens of the United States, not given for actual disability.

The bill with those amendments was passed

The army appropriation bill was taken up and went over without final action, and after an executive session the Senate adjourned

House

A message from the Senate announced the passage, with amendment, on the urgent deficiency appropriation bill for the current year On motion of Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, the amendment was disagreed to and a conference ordered with Messrs Breckinridge, Sayers, of Texas, and Cannon, of Illinois, (Rep) managers on the part of the House.

A bill to establish a National Park at Gettysburg went over till next week.

The morning hour was taken up in a fruitless discussion of the bill to purchase additional ground for the Washington navy yard.

Then the House resumed consideration of the Indian appropriation bill in committee of the whole. Mr. O'Neill (Dem., Mass.) in the chair.

Mr. Pickler (Rep., S. D.) proposed the amendment providing that hereafter no army officer shall be detailed to act as Indian agent. He said that the scheme of detailing army officers for this purpose had failed. It was more expensive than to appoint civilian agents and the results to the Indians were unsatisfactory. The amendment was ruled out on a point of order.

Mr. Caruth (Dem., Ky.) got the floor to refer to a statement he made while the post-office appropriation bill was under consideration. It was to the effect that the movement to reduce letter postage from two cents to one cent an ounce was a scheme by the projectors of the "national postage movement" to reap for their personal benefit an immense sum of money. Since that statement was made, Mr. Caruth said, most of the gentlemen whose names were used as directors of the movement had repudiated it. Lyman J. Gage, of Chicago, had resigned his position of treasurer.

The paragraph in the bill, appropriating $225,000 for the support and civilization of the Apache and other Indians in Arizona and New Mexico was objected to by Mr. Bowers (Rep., Cal.), who wanted "Apaches" struck out and "Navajos" inserted. He said that the estimate of the department for the Navajos was $130,000, but by the wording of the paragraph there was no assurance that one cent would be expended for them, while the Apaches, "the spawn of hell, and the pets of church and State," nearly every one of whom was a murderer of a white man, woman or child, were to be cared for at all risks.

The paragraph was amended to read "for the support and civilization of Indians in Arizona and New Mexico," etc, and was then agreed to.

Mr. Cobb, (Dem., Mo) moved an amendment appropriating $1,660,000 to pay the first installment due March 1, 1895, of the money due for the purchase and opening of the Cherokee strip.

Mr. Holman, (Dem., Ind.) made a point of order that the appropriation belonged in the sundry civil bill. The point was overruled and the amendment agreed to.

An amendment was offered by Mr. Thomas, (Rep, Mich) and agreed to, directing the Secretary of the Interior to appoint an inspector to make a census of the Pottowattomie Indians in Michigan and Indiana entitled to participate in the appropriation of $104,000 made at the last session of Congress

The provision of the bill, as reported, for the committee to inquire into the expenditure of appropriations for Indians under the treaty, were ruled out on a point of order.

Mr. Maddock (Dem. Ga) offered an amendment appropriating $14,000 to continue the work of the Puyallup Indian commission, the amount to be reimbursed from the sale of lands owned by the Indians

Without concluding the reading of the bill, the committee rose and the House adjourned

Exciting Scenes in the French Assembly After Election.

PARIS, Jan. 17. The announcement of the second ballot at the election to-day was made amid a terrible din. The Brissonites were so busy groaning, cheering and reproaching their neighbors that they paid no attention to M Lecour when he rose to read the figures.

The president's voice was quite inaudible and his hands trembled violently and it was five minutes after he spoke before all the members of the assembly knew the result The figures generally known were only approximate Faure 430, Brisson 361, but they sufficed to show that Felix Faure was now president of France

The scene was absolutely devoid of solemnity or even dignity The Brissonites, who had not once ceased howling, were joined by the other malcontents and the windows fairly shaken by the indescribable tumult.

The crowd outside was neither excited nor enthusiastic It waited without eagerness for the coming of the new president. The president, who had been receiving official congratulations, passed out but the crowd gave no sign of welcome There was an occasional hurrah, but not an attempt to raise a hearty cheer

There were a half dozen cheers for Faure and two or three for Brisson, when the president entered the train It reached St Lazare station in Paris at five minutes past nine The president was received with a few cries of "long live Felix Faure," but there was no enthusiasm He drove directly to the Elysee Palace

The investure of the new president with official power took place in the library of the Versailles Palace. It consisted merely in Challemel Lacour's reading to him the minutes of the assembly

At the Elysee Palace, Casimir-Perier welcomed and congratulated his successor Premier Dupuy presented the resignation of the Cabinet M Faure was persuaded by friends to show himself on the balcony and was received by the crowd for the first time today with genuine enthusiasm.

His election is a blow to the protectionist party

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The Junior Department and Gymnasium Notes.

The work of the junior department is taking a boom under the leadership of Mr. F. W Smith, chairman of the committee.

A neat eight page prospectus has been issued for distribution among friends of the juniors, who are possible members From this we learn that there are five basket ball teams organized among the boys who are playing some snappy and interesting games at the close of their Saturday forenoon gymnasium class Monthly socials are another attractive feature mentioned in the prospectus These socials are for members of the junior department only What was formerly the recreation room is to be devoted to the exclusive use of the juniors, and will have a pleasant equipment of games reading matter, etc

A well attended and very interesting Bible class is also carried on among the boys. At the close of the season a medal will be given the junior who stands highest in record for gymnasium and Bible class attendance and attention

If the mothers and fathers had a better appreciation of the value of a membership ticket in the junior department, there would be more members The fee is small, one dollar a year, and the privileges admirable Only boys from 12 to 16 years of age are eligible to membership. The success of the work is in a large measure dependent upon the support which it receives.

Many young men in this city may not be aware that the Bangor Y M C A has one of the finest gymnasiums of the New England States The use of the gymnasium and apparatus is given to all at a cost of $5 00 a year, or less than one cent and a half a day

The gymnasium is equipped with a full line of apparatus by the Narragansett Machine Company, of Providence, R I

Regular class work is held Tuesday and Thursday evenings, at which some drill is given, either with dumb bells clubs or wands, followed by class work for forty minutes and a bath, either in tub, sponge, spray shower, or a swim in the tank

AMUSEMENTS

In Old Kentucky

Bangor theatre goers evidently anticipated a dramatic treat last night upon the occasion of the visit of the "In Old Kentucky" Company, fresh from its long run in Boston, as the Opera House was packed, and it can safely be said that they were not disappointed The play and excellent company commended themselves to the appreciation of the audience from the rising of the curtain to its final ring down

The play is a melo drama with numerous scenes of considerable force and calling for strong acting to make them effective, and is typical of the character and conditions of life in the blue grass regions of Kentucky There is a dash and breeziness about it all which takes and the wealth of realistic scenery adds in no small measure to the action of the play

In the first act the Kentucky mountains are shown, the set being a fine one, and it gives opportunity for the introduction of a bridge and chasm scene and encounter between the hero and a moonshiner A curtain call greeted this act Act second represents Woodlawn, the set being an attractive exterior In this act the "Woodlawn Waydoodles," the famous Pickaninnie band, appears and Burt Grant and others do some very skillful and lively dancing It was great fun and the entertainers got many rounds of applause

Act three shows the Ashland oaks, a room in the Phoenix Hotel, a street in Lexington, the paddock, outside the race track and finally the grand stand and and the race track with the finish of the big race Each scene was very realistic and the last one was especially well put on.

Where there is much of the dramatic in the play there is also a happy blending of comedy of a very amusing character.

The company is a well chosen and well balanced one throughout

Miss Laura Burt gave an admirable portrayal of the role of "Madge Brierly, acting with much spirit Mr Forrest Robinson is an old favorite in Bangor and made a strong and manly "Frank Layson" The "Col Doolittle" of Mr E H Burns brought many laughs It was a capital interpretation of the character Miss Greybrooke made a very pleasing "Althea Layson," Mr Devo a favorable "Joe Lorey" and Mr McVay a repulsive "Horace Holton"

The entire company did excellent work and the presentation was a smooth and lively one

To-night the second and concluding performance will be given and it deserves the large patronage it will receive.

At the Norombega

Last evening's performance of "A Great Wrong" at The Norombega was well attended and pleased the audience It is a play which shows the company to good advantage The specialties of Mr Kranz and Mr Whittier were well received. To-night will be given the first performance here, by this company, of "Uncle Josh," which will also fill the bill for Saturday night and for the special children's matinee Saturday afternoon.

"Alvin Joslin"

Charles L. Davis, in his quaint and original conception, "Alvin Joslin," will be the attraction at the Opera House next Monday. This play has run for seventeen years and as many people go to see "Alvin Joslin" to day as a dozen years ago. Like the proverbial pair of home-spun trowsers, "it never wears out." The play has been seen so many times that a most every line of it is familiar to our theatre goers The people are amused at its odd and unique constructions, and laugh at its broad comedy. Mr. Davis announces this as his farewell tour He has trouped for seventeen years, has played "Alvin Joslin" several thousand times, has seen lots of the country and thinks he has earned a rest and intends to take it after this season; so this is positively the last chance to see "Uncle Alvin" The play will be presented here in an elaborate manner by the best company Mr. Davis has ever had in his support It is promised.

Basket Ball.

The basket ball games at the Y M C A gymnasium last evening were interesting. There was a good attendance. The first game was between the Y. M. C. A. and Business College teams and was won by the former team 9 goals to 4. The teams played as follows

Y. M. C. A.		BUSINESS COLLEGE
Drinkwine	c	Smith
Belyea	r w	Leadbetter
Bass	l w	Robbins
Field	r b	Carter
Snow	l b	Wheeldon
Russell	r f	McRae
Godfrey	l f	Nichols

The second game was between the Crescents and a picked team. It was won by the Crescents by a score of 21 to 8. The players were as follows:

CRESCENTS.		PICKED TEAM.
Chalmers	center	Snow
Robinson	r w	Titcomb
Gardner	l w	Morris
McRae	r forward	Nichols
Cotter	l forward	Carter
Connors	r back	Bailey
Doney	l back	Lowson

Mr. J. E. Lewis, agent of the "Alvin Joslin" company, is in the city at the Windsor, arranging for the appearance of the company at the Opera House next Monday evening.

LUMBERMEN MEET

To Organize for the Protection of the Maine Forests

A meeting of eighteen of the leading land owners and lumbermen of this city was held yesterday forenoon in the office of E S Coe, Esq, to arrange for the formation of an organization for the protection of their interests and the forests of Maine Hon D F Davis was chairman of the meeting

A committee composed of F H Appleton, Esq, Hon D F Davis and Wilson Crosby, Esq, reported a constitution which had been drawn up by them and it was signed by those present after being accepted The constitution states that the object of the association is to better protect, preserve and promote the growth of the forests of Maine, to devise and adopt the best possible means for protecting our forests against destruction from fires, insects and a wanton and wasteful use of the axe, to ascertain the best, most judicious and most economical method of cutting logs, to secure a fair honest and equitable system of scaling the same, and to do all other things that may be necessary to protect and foster the forest interests of the State

The same committee on constitution was continued in office for the purpose of drafting by laws which will be reported at a meeting to be held in the near future

The nucleus of the association has been formed in Bangor, but it is the idea to make it a State organization The forests of the State are a very important feature and they are certainly worthy of preservation There must be considerable lumbering but the idea of the organization is to see that there is no wasteful cutting, etc as stated

Bangor and Brewer Bridge

Editor Whig and Courier

Petitions, or rather remonstrances are now being circulated and receiving signatures in this community against the Legislature granting a renewal of the bridge charter on the ground that the day of toll bridges has gone by, that all bridges should be free, the petitioners presumably meaning to have the bridge made free without compensation. Upon what ground, I would ask, is such principle based and what authority is there for its support And if the principle be adopted how are the people of the future to be accommodated where there are no bridges to be taken? Is the law of the future to be different from that of the past and present If a company could build a bridge and make people pay for its expense, why should a bridge already built be taken without paying for its value? I would seem just and proper that if the public cannot compel a company to build a new bridge the same rule should be adopted with reference to one already built and in either case the supply should be paid for To take advantage of the fact that the present bridge is thought to be in condition to be taken is no more honest than to compel a certain company or body of men to build a new one The case is the same as with the thief who has a chance to steal, with the choice to limit his theft to a present small sum or run the risk of a richer sum by waiting In either case the act is a crime So here To take advantage of the present supposed opportunity to seize the bridge without payment is no less a criminal wrong than it would be to compel certain men or parties under pain and penalty of imprisonment, to build a new one For where is the difference? The owners here have not only built the bridge at their own cost but have been at the double expense of rebuilding it after the flood and have been receiving only a little more than a fair interest on their expenditure Because the opportunity is supposed to exist to seize the property for public use without remuneration does that justify the act? Does not the very fact that a man asks to have it done impeach his character for honesty?

The bridge was built not merely for private gain but more particularly for the public good and the public have been in the constant enjoyment of it for some three score years at the small expenditure of a moderate interest on the investment, and they are now willing if not indeed anxious to give up all the property at a fair and reasonable price and less considerable than its cost What more can the public ask What excuse can be made for any attempt to steal the property because some believe the opportunity exists for committing the act?

The Kenduskeag Bridge was originally built by a stock company and tolls collected from those who used it and when the necessity existed to have it free the city paid for it without a thought of obtaining it in any other way Let our city maintain its already acquired integrity

But just here it has occurred to me that I may have misunderstood the motives of the petitioners or remonstrants Their prayer does not necessarily involve the wrong suggested, but only to have the bridge made free from toll That is what the proprietors are willing to have, done for a fair consideration But a few years ago turnpikes were very common, where tolls were taxed for travel on ordinarily built roads None such now exist although the roads remain free, they having been made so at public expense The same rule should be adopted with reference to bridges, the thief principle being in no case resorted to, however good an opportunity appears to exist for its exercise It is to be presumed the petitioners ask for no criminal act to be performed, and the natural as well as the legal presumption is that in granting their prayer justice may be done That is all the stockholders ask

Death of a Native of Bangor

The Oregon Observer, of Grant's Pass, Ore, of the date of January 5th, announces the death of Abraham S. Longley, which occurred January 2d, at the age of 65 years He was born in Bangor, March 8, 1830. During the War of the Rebellion he served as sergeant in Co. A, 4th Regiment Cal. Car. Vol. from September 18, 1861, to October 13, 1864, at which date he was honorably discharged.

When he went to Grant's Pass he joined Gen. Logan Post, No. 39, G. A. R. and as a token of the esteem of his comrades he was elected commander of the post, being such at the time of his death. The committee from the post appointed to draw up resolutions in them speak as follows:

As a neighbor, comrade, citizen and judicial officer he commanded and held the esteem of those who knew and had occasion to deal and associate with him. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn for him.

He was a member of the I. O. O. F. and a justice of the peace.

BASE BALL

Arrangements Being Made to "Trow Der Ball"

The outlook for the coming base ball season in this city is good and Bangor will be represented in the New England League by a very strong team—one in fact that will make the others hustle from start to finish Taking last year's experience and players in consideration and the Bangor team can be relied on to play ball Last season the team began at a disadvantage

The Rockland Base Ball association would like to secure the services of Fred Wakefield to manage their team Wakefield is certainly fast enough for them but it is not probable that he would leave college to accept such a position

The Yale nine is to dispense with the services of a league player as coach this spring in its training for the inter collegiate series of games

The Kansas City base ball club wants Tenney, Bannon and Connaughton recently released by Boston

Bob Wrenn, the tennis player may become the second baseman of the Harvard base ball team next year

Manager Davis of New York has decided to make a specialty of arranging college games with the New Yorks at the polo grounds and has already many dates It is suggested that a trophy be awarded to the college team which makes the best showing against the giants in the exhibition games a plan introduced by Jim Mutrie many years ago

So far as arranged the New York team will train in New Orleans the Baltimores at Macon Ga the Chicagos at Galveston Texas, the Philadelphias at Charlotte Va the Brooklyns in South Carolina and the St Louis Browns at Hot Springs Every league club except the Clevelands has made some arrangement for a southern training trip New York Herald

BREWER LOCALS.

The anniversary of the First Congregational church is to be held next Sunday evening.

A dance was held in City Hall Wednesday evening that was largely attended and greatly enjoyed by all present.

A meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary is to be held this afternoon with Mrs. H. S. French, at her home on Washington street.

Burr's Hall has been engaged for the rehearsals of the Cantata of Belshazzer and that of Saturday evening is to be held there.

There was about an inch of snow on the river yesterday but a number of young people were skating there. Several rinks of greater or less size have been scraped clear of snow.

City Marshal Fickett has received a notice from Detective John D. Shea, of Chicago, to arrest one James Halloran. Halloran is wanted for horse stealing and is thought to be in the East.

Master Frank Hutchinson, a boy about 12 years of age, is suffering from a slight concussion of the brain as the result of an accident Wednesday in which he fell from his sled while coasting and struck his head against a sharp rock.

The assembly in the B. & B. course at City Hall was largely attended as usual and was a delightful event, fully enjoyed by all. Music was furnished by Pullen's orchestra and an efficiently arranged order of dances was carried out.

There will be a gospel service at the Congregational chapel at South Brewer this evening at half past seven. Mr. Fuller, of the Seminary, will speak especially to the young. He is an interesting speaker and all are wanted to go and hear him.

The ice operators had their men and horses at work yesterday scraping their fields of the slight amount of snow that had fallen. None of the fields are as yet as thick as is desired for cutting and some of them are not more than six or seven inches in thickness. A cold spell of weather is needed and it will probably not be long before we get it. The ice is of excellent quality.

The regular meeting of the First Congregational Ladies' Parish Circle for work was held in the vestry yesterday afternoon and in the evening the customary social was held. A fine supper was served at 6.30 o'clock and the remainder of the evening was passed in the usual pleasant social manner. There was a large attendance and all present thoroughly enjoyed the occasion.

Messrs. W. W. Doane and Cyrus W. Doane were drawn as special jurors for the present term of the supreme court at a special meeting of the city council Wednesday evening. Another meeting of the council is to be held Tuesday evening to draw a grand juror for the February term of the supreme court, to hear the report of the committee on salaries and to transact any other business that may come up.

A temperance meeting was held at South Brewer Wednesday evening in the Congregational chapel, which was very well attended notwithstanding the stormy nature of the weather. The stirring and excellent addresses of Messrs. Gibson and Wattie, of Bangor Seminary, were thoroughly enjoyed. It was voted to have a Good Templar organization at South Brewer and a committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. George Torrens and Greenleaf Mayo, Miss Mabel Reed and Mrs. Vanadestine who will have charge of the matter and report at a meeting to be called by them in the near future.

Winterport News.

Our correspondent writes: Mr. and Mrs. Mason returned from their bridal tour Tuesday evening, having been in Montreal a few weeks.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Lucy H. Merrill were held last Sunday in this village, by her pastor, Rev. J. P. Simonton. She was an honored and beloved member of the M. E. Church.

Arthur Merrill, of Boston, and Willie, of Belfast, have been in town, called here by their mother's death.

Mrs. Carrie Chase and daughters were matrons at the Ladies' Circle supper, Tuesday evening. There was a very large attendance. A number of invited guests were present, also a number united with the circle. The honored president, Mrs. E. M. Lord, was unable to be present.

Eugene Howland has gone to Augusta in the employ of Morse & Co., Bangor.

Arthur Smith has accepted a situation in Portland.

The big boys and girls had fun last evening, coasting.

Board of Indian Commissioners Meet.

The Board of Indian Commissioners met in annual session at Washington, Wednesday, in conjunction with the secretaries of the various churches doing missionary and educational work among the Indians. Chairman M. E. Gates, of Amherst, Mass., called the meeting to order. Reports of benevolent societies were submitted. General Morgan, ex-Commissioner of Indian Affairs, representing the Baptists whose field of labor is principally in Okolahoa and the Indian Territory, reported reasonable progress of his society.

Dr. C. H. Ryder, for the Congregationalists, Indian secretary of the American Missionary Association, whose work included Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington, reported the work had reached thirty tribes. There were right central stations with sixty missionaries, and 26 outstations with forty missionaries. His association surrendered the government appropriation of $22,000 last year because it thought it bad policy to accept government aid. This brought about serious results, especially at the central stations, and at some schools caused a loss in the enrollment of pupils. The industries taught pupils were shoemaking, printing, blacksmithing, farming, cooking, sewing and nursing. The Dawes bill, he said, helped greatly in the mission field, and Indians had largely taken up property in several. He said out-station work was the true solution of the Indian problem; converted and educated Indians were carrying on religious and educational work among their own people. Churches had been built and the work supported by the generous contributions of the Indians themselves.

The report of Dr. Langford was handed in, owing to the absence of that gentleman. It showed that the Episcopalians had surrendered the government funds. The report of the "Friends" was made by Mr. James, of Philadelphia. That church was especially interested in the appointment and support of field matrons.

Dr. W. C. Roberts, for North Presbyterians, reported the enrollment of 2,486 pupils with a loss of the government money. The total cost of this church in the missionary work was $193,806 for the past year. Dr. Roberts said it was impossible for his church to carry on so large a work with the loss of government aid. He thought a small amount of this fund should have been surrendered each year until the church could supply enough money to carry on the work. He complained of the manner in which the Catholic church shared in the distribution of government money for Indian schools.

Dr. Sheldon Jackson, special agent of the Bureau of Education, told of the progress of the work in Alaska, after which a recess was taken.

Cumberland.

This year has been a record breaker at the Portland police station as far as lodgers go. There is scarcely a night that from five to twenty knights of the road are not accommodated with lodgings. The police officials are getting decidedly weary of running a free hotel, but as yet have discovered no way to avoid it. They are of the unanimous opinion that if every man who applied for lodgings was obliged to do work enough to pay for it they would not be troubled to the extent they are. There is no work, however, that they can be put to, so they get their night's lodging without any effort.

The Salmon Gold Mining Company, organized at Portland for the purpose of securing lands, mines, etc., has filed certificate. Capital stock, $500,000, of which $35 is paid in. President, I. F. Paul, of Boston; Treasurer, R. G. Hawford, of Boston.

The Maine Consolidated Company, organized at Portland, for the purpose of manufacturing water works and electric light supplies, has filed certificate. Capital stock, $125,000, of which $300 is paid in. President, A. L. Hersey, of Portland; Treasurer, S. C. Fox, of Portland.

Kennebec.

And now the Gardiner Board of Trade committee have struck a hat factory that will come to Gardiner with the proper inducements. The establishment would start with two hundred hands. A big four-story building is one of the requirements.

Knox.

Boat building seems to be one of the live industries in Knox County just now, and in Camden this industry seems to be flourishing particularly. John E. Dailey has in frame a 30-foot sloop boat for Edward Dale, of Philadelphia, which will be completed the last of February. Alongside Mr. Dailey's place of business is another little shop where Edward Jordan has in frame a 20-foot sloop boat which he is building for himself, and which will be ready for the water early in May. Willis Williams has the keel stretched for a boat of about 30 feet. Mr. Williams' shop is in the rear of the Ezra Bramhall building. Next to that of Mr. Williams is the shop of J. H. Decrow who is building a 13-foot pulling boat, which is well along. Mr. Decrow recently completed a nice pulling boat for M. C. Whitmore and Washington Ingraham. A. Barrett & Son, of Rockport, have nearly completed a nice yacht for Charleston, S. C., and have in hand a contract for a 30-foot centerboard boat for Newport, R. I., parties. J. W. Lothrop, of Rockland, is at work, for them. George S. Wardwell, Rockland, has commenced work in earnest on a fine boat for New Haven parties. J. J. Wardwell, of Camden, is at work with him.

Rockland has several important cases to come before the next term of the Supreme Court. There is the case of the City of Rockland vs. Miss Lucy C. Farnsworth for the collection of $60 tax on real estate and $1,200 on personal property for the year 1894. Miss Farnsworth gave notice in 1886 to the Board of Assessors that she had taken up her residence in Camden. The assessors abated her tax until last year, when they became satisfied that she still made Rockland her residence and assessed her accordingly. The big tree case will also probably be tried next term. City Solicitor Prescott will doubtless have charge of these cases as the session of court will be held only two days after the election of his successor.

Piscataquis.

William Harrison Chandler, a farmer residing about two miles from the village of Foxcroft, suffered the amputation of his left hand just above the wrist. Some time last spring Mr. Chandler stuck a stub in the ball of his thumb, which immediately began to swell and for several weeks it was feared blood poisoning might ensue. He was confined to his bed for a long time but recovered sufficiently to be able to be about the house and premises. Meanwhile, he has suffered most excruciating pain and by the advice of his physician his hand was amputated and he is now doing well.

Sagadahoc.

The Manhattan Ice Company, Phippsburg Center, shipped the first cargo of ice for this season from the Kennebec last week. It was 11½ inches thick. It was good, clear ice shipped right out of the water and loaded on the barge Navesink. She carried 1,000 tons.

Orders are now daily expected at the Bath Iron Works to take the ram Katahdin to Charlestown, where she will receive the finishing touches before going on duty. The work will probably occupy six weeks. Among other things the iron propellers will be replaced by those of manganese bronze, which is exceptionally strong and comparatively light. The steel monster will probably be adorned with a coat of buff paint on returning to Bath.

York.

The people of Old Orchard, through the persistent efforts of Fred A. Whittier, have broken out the kite track at that place for the pleasure of all lovers of sport. The track is as smooth as a floor its full width and length, and the turn is so gradual that horses can go at full dell with perfect safety, making one of the finest places on earth for winter exercise and speed. All are welcome to avail themselves of this opportunity to exercise and speed their flyers.

A Girl's Wisest Choice.

What a good mother looks for in the man of her daughter's choice, writes Mrs. Burton Kingsland in The Ladies' Home Journal, are first high principle—that goes without saying—and next manliness. It is a protean word, but needs no explanation, as it conveys to every mind a clear conception of a type commanding universal approbation. He must be gentlemanly as well as manly. Social life requires manners as well as principles, and few things kill love more quickly than being ashamed of its object. Good breeding, however, though it cannot be counterfeited, may be acquired, being not a veneer, but a polish. A reverence for sacred things is absolutely necessary, I believe, to true happiness.

SHORT SWORDS FOR TWO.

A Story of What Might Have Been Among Old Time Senators.

The late Judge L. Q. C. Lamar possessed a remarkable peculiarity. Unusual excitement seemed to act upon his nerves like an opiate and put him to sleep. This was strongly exemplified after his remarkable verbal encounter with the great New Yorker, Mr. Conkling. Mr. Lamar, after scarifying Mr. Conkling for life, leaving him with burning yet deferential resentment, closed as follows:

"I apologize to the senate for this seeming unparliamentary language" (advancing to the New Yorker and throwing his index finger full in his face), "language that no man, good man, deserves, and no brave man will wear." Immediately Mr. Lamar walked to the cloakroom on the Democratic side, lay down on a sofa, and in three minutes was sleeping as calmly as a babe. There was great excitement. It was believed Mr. Conkling would not submit to the language applied to him, and that, while he probably would not challenge Lamar, being an athlete, he would meet him on the streets and assault him. The late Senator Zeb Vance, a Hercules in stature, who was devoted to Mr. Lamar, without the knowledge of that gentleman or of any other human being, shadowed Mr. Lamar for some days, explaining afterward that if Conkling ever struck Lamar he intended to beat him to death. Mr. Vance, however, did not know what those intimately acquainted with Mr. Lamar knew. In all probability Mr. Lamar could have whipped them both. He prided himself upon his muscle and has often said to the writer, "I believe I am better fitted for a prize fighter than I am for a senator." It was apprehended by some that Conkling would challenge Mr. Lamar. Conkling was known to be an expert with the short sword. Mr. Lamar said afterward to an intimate friend in discussing the matter, "If Mr. Conkling had sent me a challenge, I should have chosen short swords."

"Why, Mr. Lamar," replied his friend, "Conkling is an expert with the short sword."

"I know that," replied the senator, "but I took some lessons with the short sword myself when I was in Paris the time that I was sent by the Confederacy on a mission to Russia."

"Why, senator," the friend replied, "you have not had a short sword in your hand in 20 years."

"I know that," coolly replied the senator, "but I should have chosen short swords."—New Orleans Picayune.

THIRTY-THREE FEET AT A BOUND.

The Tremendous Leap Made by a Hungry Wildcat After His Breakfast.

The wonderful power of a wildcat is shown in its ability to leap long distances. All of the cat tribe have immense power in their legs, and they make up in the length of their spring their inability to make a continued chase. African leopards in captivity have been known to leap from the floor of the cages and strike the top, 12 feet above. Tigers make tremendous leaps and strike down on their prey with a blow of their powerful paws as they alight. But the wildcat, for its size, is probably the most wonderful jumper of all the felines.

A hunter who is well known for his veracity recently told the following story of an adventure which illustrates this power:

"I was hunting in the snow and came across the track of a wildcat, which I followed for a long distance. Suddenly the tracks came to an end in a spot where the animal had crouched. I looked around to see what had become of the trail, and away head of me saw a bunch of blood and feathers. From that spot the track led on again off into a swamp. The situation was susceptible to but one explanation—the wildcat had been hunting for his dinner and had discovered a pheasant wandering about in the snow. The cat crept as close as he dared to the unsuspecting bird and gathered himself into an animated spiral spring, such as the cat tribe coil themselves into when preparing to spring, and releasing the trigger shot into the air, landing on top of the victim before the bird, quick as pheasants usually are, could evade the stroke. The distance from where the cat crouched to where it caught the bird was just 33 feet. I naturally supposed from the length of the leap that the cat was young and in full activity, but after I trailed it to the swamp and shot it I discovered that it was old and almost toothless. The animal's hunger may have spurred him to the great jump. If not, and the leap was an evidence of what a superannuated wildcat can do, I wouldn't be surprised to learn that a young and active wildcat could clear at least twice that distance when pressed by necessity."—Boston Journal.

BEST MAN AT THE WEDDING.

Pat's Graphic Account of the Disastrous Mistake That He Made.

An Irish teamster asked for a half holiday for the purpose of attending his sister's wedding, and the request was granted. When he made his appearance the next morning, his right arm was in a sling, there was a plaster across his nose and a raw oyster in a poultice against his eye. His left ear looked like a cauliflower. "Why, Pat," said his employer, "I thought you were going to your sister's wedding? You look as though you had gone to a cyclone festival."

"I wor at th' weddin, sor," said Pat. "'Twas th' truth I tould yez."

"Well, how did you get banged up this way?" inquired the merchant.

"I'll tell yez, sor," replied Pat. "D'ye see, whin I got there and wint in th' people were standin forninst the priest, an be the side o' thim wor a man in a pintail coat and a big sphlatterin white shirt. I lucked at um, an he lucked at me. 'Oh, ho,' sez I till myself, sez I, 'an ye think yer a jewel!' Wuth that I got a wee bit closer an lucked at um wance moore. He give a twist till his lip like and turned his back. 'No Gallagher ever took that,' sez I till meself agin, an I taps me laddiebuck on the showlder.

"'An who may yez be, me bould buckoo?' sez I, feelin that the blood o' the Gallaghers had been insulted.

"'I'm the best mon,' sez he.

"'Th' the best mon?' says I.

"'Thot's what I said,' sez he. 'Th' best mon,' an, sor," said Pat as he shifted the oyster on his eye, "he wuz."—New York Mail and Express.

An Early Bank Note.

The earliest bank note in the possession of the Bank of England is one dated Dec. 19, 1699, for £555. It is printed from an engraved plate, but it has blanks for the amount, date, number and signature. Across it are written memoranda showing that it was repaid in three installments. In appearance it is not altogether unlike the modern note. It is noticeable particularly that in the words, "For the Govr. and Compa.," the word "company" is thus abbreviated and not into "comp.," which would be more in accordance with the usual practice. In the bank library is another note for £35, which was not presented for 111 years. Another curiosity, said to be unique, is a note for no less than £1,000,000, dated 1782. Only four for such an amount have ever been issued.—Strand Magazine.

Righteous Indignation.

Mrs. Youngma—Oh, I'm so boiling over with righteous indignation I don't know what to do. I'd—I'd like to bite somebody.

Friend—Whom?

"Whom? Why, those coarse, brutal, inhuman owners of the St. Quiet flats. They refused to rent to me."

"Everybody knows that they object to children, my dear."

"Yes, of course—but they objected to mine."—New York Weekly.

Becoming.

"This shape doesn't seem to be as becoming as a small hat; do you think so?"

Milliner—Oh, my, yes. You can't see how much of your face it covers up.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

VACCINATION MAD.

Washington's Recent Smallpox Scare a Bonanza For the Apothecaries.

During the recent smallpox scare in Washington one apothecary sold 18,000 "vaccine points" within 24 hours. On a Friday, when the general fright was greatest, the supply gave out. Physicians telegraphed in every direction for points. In the drug store referred to a big crowd was waiting. A small quantity arrived, and the people scrambled for them. The scene was a most extraordinary one. Holding their money in their hands over their heads, men, women and children struggled like anxious bettors at a race track. One would have supposed that their lives depended on procuring the points, of which there were not nearly enough to go round.

"Here's my money!" yelled one man.

"You promised me four points yesterday!" cried a woman.

"I'll pay you a dollar apiece for six points!" shouted another man, evidently the anxious father of a family.

In one day of the scare the apothecary said that he had made more money than he had ever made in two days out of his business. Somebody came to him and offered to buy out his entire stock of points at the figure he charged for them retail. The druggist refused because there was reason to believe that an attempt was being made to corner the supply.

A well known physician in town ascertained that a patient of his possessed an extra vaccine point. He went and begged it of him. One little colored boy called at the Emergency hospital and asked, with tears in his eyes, to be vaccinated.

"You go and get one of those things," said the surgeon in charge, "and I'll vaccinate you."

The boy went to the apothecary and begged a vaccine point. Then he returned to the hospital and was operated upon.—Washington Star.

LONDON'S REIGN OF TERROR.

A Mysterious Veiled Woman In Black and Her Thirst For Blood.

Two ladies of the writer's family were making calls just after dusk yesterday in Kensington. They had some difficulty in finding the new address of a friend, and not seeing a policeman stopped to inquire the way to Queen's Gate Terrace of a group of four women who happened to be approaching. Before they had time to speak two words of their question the four women turned and fled, with every evidence of sudden terror. The ladies walked on a few steps, met two more women and attempted to make the same inquiry. The second couple seemed seized with even greater alarm than the first group. They gathered up their skirts, ran across the street and away without waiting to hear the question.

This extraordinary power to put British maids and matrons to flight by a word so amused the two American women that they tested it once or twice more, with the same result, except that one woman retained sufficient self possession to call back, "Don't know," over her shoulder as she ran away.

The incident furnishes striking proof of the literal reign of terror now prevailing in one of the most fashionable quarters in London by reason of the series of strange crimes about which the cable has already told you something. A mysterious veiled woman in black, whose mania is to stab others of her sex, has appeared no less than five times within a week in a district less than a half mile square, and although scores of detectives are lying in wait for her she is still at large. In each case she has approached her victim with an inquiry about a certain street. Her first victim lost an eye, and the second was stabbed in the neck, narrowly escaping a fatal wound. The fear of her was now widespread, so that the others she accosted fled before she could strike them. There is some suspicion that she is a small man in disguise, as all describe the person as having a gruff voice, but the police believe it is a woman, and that she is undoubtedly insane.—London Letter.

A CANVASBACK DUDE.

He Startled the London West Enders, but Won His Wager.

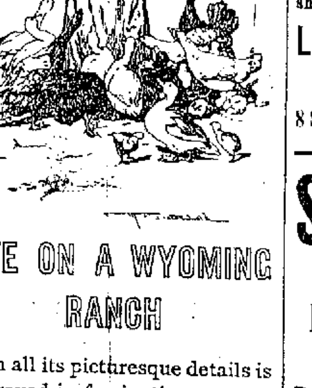

Considerable sensation was created in the west end of London recently by a newspaper vender attired in a most extraordinary suit of canvas held together entirely by safety pins, who frequented the most important thoroughfares for the greater part of the day. A close scrutiny revealed a glimpse of a snowy shirt front not altogether concealed by the strange canvas suit and fingers loaded with handsome rings not usually found on the general run of news venders, while he delivered the contents of his bill with a most aristocratic drawl.

It appears that a party of "Johnnies" were assembled together in the Cafe Monico a few days since, and a discussion rose between them as to the sale of papers in the streets, one gilded youth asserting that he would, for a wager of £50, sell a certain number of papers in a certain time under certain conditions, which was immediately snapped up by one of his companions, with the result that the youth appeared in the streets under the circumstances related above.

He was closely attended wherever he went by a large crowd and was the subject of numerous irreverent remarks from the legitimate paper sellers, who could not make it out at all. The affair caused much amusement, especially when this most extraordinary news vender adjourned to the Cafe Monico for refreshment, his entry causing a great diversion among all assembled in that establishment. The wager was completed and won at 9:30 in the evening.—London Cor. Chicago Post.

The Indian name of Hackensack, N. J., was Hanequansauk, or book mouth, from the windings of the river ere it emptied into Newark bay.

It is believed by microscopists that the highest powers of their instruments have not yet revealed the most minute forms of animal life.

Harper's Weekly

IN 1895

HARPER'S WEEKLY is a pictorial history of the times. It presents every important event promptly, accurately, and exhaustively in illustration and descriptive text of the highest order.

The manner in which during 1894 it has treated the Chicago Railway Strikes and the Chino-Japanese War and the amount of light it was able to throw on Korea the instant attention was directed to that little known country, are examples of its almost boundless resources.

Julian Ralph, the distinguished writer and correspondent, has been sent to the seat of war, and there joined by C. D. Weldon, the well-known American artist, now for many years a resident in Japan, who has been engaged to cooperate with Mr. Ralph in sending to HARPER'S WEEKLY exclusive information and illustration.

During 1895 every vital question will be discussed with vigor and without prejudice in the editorial columns, and also in special articles by the highest authorities in each department. Portraits of the men and women who are making history, and powerful and caustic political cartoons, will continue to be characteristic features. This Busy World, with its keen and kindly comment on the lesser doings of the day, will remain a regular department.

FICTION: There will be two powerful serials, both handsomely illustrated: The Red Cockade, a stirring romance of olden days by Stanley J. Weyman, and a novel of New York, entitled The Son of His Father, by Brander Matthews; several novelettes, and many short stories by popular writers.

Send for Illustrated Prospectus.

The Volumes of the WEEKLY begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, subscriptions will begin with the Number current at the time of receipt of order.

Cloth cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1.00 each. Title-page and Index sent on application.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.
